4. Our plans for 2013.

Thank you! for all of your support throughout 2012. This year has not been easy or simple. We have accomplished many projects, have experienced significant growth, and have become wiser and stronger. We would not have been able to cope with everything without your moral and financial support!

Year after year, Orphan's Future continues to grow. We are planning some new and important programs and projects to help orphans have a happy childhood and a promising future. It's important that the orphan graduates join in this process. In fact, I personally have experienced the life of a young orphan graduate and continue to move forward, adapting to our situation and sharing my experience with friends.

New Year - it's not just a holiday, it is symbolic of beginnings and endings. I wish for you the best of new beginnings. I believe that together we will achieve new successes. Thank you on behalf of our whole team, for you are always with us. Thanks for your advice, reviews and recommendations! Thanks to all of you, we are growing and you are helping us to achieve more than ever before! Thank you very much!

Sincerely,

Andriy Nazarenko – Executive Director at Orphans' Future Foundation

The children had an opportunity to travel through the castles of Khmelnytsky, Chernivtsi and Ternopil Regions, and to study English and take an active part in contests and competitions. These camps are conducted every year and we are very grateful that there are caring and committed people, both from Ukraine and abroad, who generously give their time to help orphan children.

Annual Report of Orphans' Future 2012

The Orphans' Future Fund celebrated 6 years of charity work in Ukraine at a local pizzeria where Andriy Nazarenko, head of the fund, presented all active volunteers with gifts. Mini-Bus for 8 passengers was bought for Orphans' Future by American family, Judi and Ron Gillmor. The generous gift of this bus enabled our volunteers to visit orphanage boarding schools in remote country areas and bring gifts and materials needed by the orphans. The bus has also been very useful for the transportation of the children and enabled us to put smiles on their faces by taking them on interesting excursions.

Training for Orphans' Future Volunteers: In addition to participating in our charity activities, many of the Orphans' Future volunteers, who were themselves former pupils of orphanage boarding schools, undertake their own study and training to enable them to lead their own independent lives. Special mention should be made about 6 of our volunteers who participated in the 'Strong Start' program held in Kiev and organized by the charity organization 'Partnership for Every Child'. The training which included workshops in "Problems of Youth Employment", provided information which would be useful for our volunteers to transfer to the next group of orphan graduates.
